KeyMacro enables you to generate any character with the right combination of keys, just as if you're typing on your keyboard. KeyMacro is a freeware program that enables you to generate any character with the right combination of keys, just as if you're typing on your keyboard. Thus, it works like a terminal on your computer, in which you type a set of characters, and then you just press the right combination of keys to generate the desired letter. The program's interface is composed of two frames. The first one contains a list of the possible characters and their corresponding keys. The second one is a bit further, as it contains a table that shows the different combinations of keys to generate any given character. The software is compatible with most keyboard layouts, including all the ones created by Microsoft, Apple and Linux. Thus, KeyMacro can be used in most Windows operating systems. It works with the different function keys in Windows 7 and Windows 8. However, it is not recommended to use it with the default settings of the function keys in Windows 8. When you're not sure which key to press, the software offers tips and suggestions. Moreover, when a character is generated, it is highlighted in blue on the screen. KeyMacro offers an extensive documentation, as well as the help of a support staff. Thus, you can access the help section by pressing F1. There, you can find a list of the available options, along with their description. Some of these options are useful, such as the ones that allow you to change the hot keys used for special characters. However, some of them can be quite cumbersome, such as the ones that hide the screen, for example. Otherwise, KeyMacro is a simple program that works well. Its interface is quite clean and the documentation is detailed. The software is also compatible with most keyboard layouts, along with the default function keys in Windows 7 and Windows 8. LingvoSoft ABC Player is a software that will enable you to play the most common international TV channels. It contains the most popular TV channels, such as the BBC, CNN, PBS, Al Jazeera, VTV, ABS-CBN and more, so you can play any channel, no matter its country of origin. The program can be used for personal or corporate use. However, the latter is a bit more limited, as it is only able to play one channel at a time. The program 1d6a3396d6
